

Even Money Bet Selection MM Rules (20)

These MM Rules are used when playing an Even Money Bet Selection method with Roulette or Baccarat, with a 20 unit buy-in.

1. Always start each session with 20 units and bet amount set at 1 unit.
2. Never place a bet that will take you over -20 from your highest point. (so if your highest point was +2 never go below -18).
3. Once you get to +6 never place a bet that will take you below +3 units.
4. Once you get to +10 or above never give back more than 4 units (for example if you are at +11 never go below +7).

The best way to use the above information is to break your session down to four stages like so:

- Stage 1: -20 (we hope we never get to here!!!)
- Stage 2: +3 (do nothing this is your safety net once you get to +6)
- Stage 3: +6 (once you get to here you are guaranteed a winning session)
- Stage 4: +10 (once you get to here you have two choices stop, or play on)

If playing at a Brick and Mortar Casino I would use my chips to keep count on what stage I'm at during my session, by keeping my buying chips separate from any profits I would have, for example I have been playing for a while and now have +6, I would have three piles of chips, 20, 3 and 3 and only play with the third pile of chips(3), trying to get to the target of +10, if I lose them I exit the session.

If playing online I would look at my Casino account for example if I had £455.00 in my account and was using £10.00 as my base bet I would do the following:

On a piece of paper/notepad I would right down the four stages of the session I'm about to play based on my current Casino account balance.

We know that we need 20 units to play our session so everything below is based on that.

- Stage 1: 255 (we hope we never get here!!!)
- Stage 2: 485 (do nothing this is your safety net once you get to 515)
- Stage 3: 515 (once you get to here you are guaranteed a winning session)
- Stage 4: 555 (once you get to here you have two choices stop, or play on)

Now with your four stages written down before you play, it will be easy to see what stage you are at in your session just by looking at your Casino balance.
